PROPERTIES OF COLOR PRANAS AND APPLICATIONS

RED PRANA

Properties :

1. Strengthening
2. Warm
3. Expansive
4. Dilating
5. Distributive (improves circulation)
6. Constructive -- rapid tissue or cellular repair
7. Sustains the visible physical body
8. Vitalizes the blood, tissues, and the skeletal system
9. Stimulating and activating

Applications :

1. Strengthening sluggish and weakened organs or parts
2. Dilating blood vessels and air tubes
3. Improving circulation
4. Allergy
5. Internal and external wounds
6. General tiredness or weakening
7. Paralysis
8. Reviving unconscious patients
9. Reviving or prolonging the life of dying patients

When using red prana, light whitish red or light red prana is used. Do not use dark red prana because this has a reverse reaction; instead of strengthening, it will have a weakening effect on the part being treated.

Light whitish red or light red prana has dilating effects on the blood vessels and air tubes. This is useful for treating heart and asthmatic patients. Dark red prana should not be used because it can cause inflammation and constriction. It should also not be used on venereal ailments since it stimulates the rapid growth of venereal germs.

ORANGE PRANA

Properties :

1. Expelling
2. Eliminative
3. Decongesting
4. Cleansing
5. Loosening – loosens diseased energy
6. Melting
7. Extracting or abstracting
8. Splitting, exploding, and destructive

Applications :

1. Expelling or elimination of waste, toxins, germs, and diseased energy.
2. Allergy
3. Kidney and bladder ailments
4. Constipation
5. Menstrual problems
6. Removing blood clot
7. Arthritis
8. Cyst
9. Cold, cough, and lung problems

When using orange prana, only light whitish orange or light orange prana is usually used. Orange prana has a very potent effect; therefore, it should be avoided when treating delicate organs like the eyes, brain, and heart. For safety reason, avoid using orange prana on the following :

1. head
2. eyes
3. brain
4. areas very near the head
5. jaw minor chakras
6. heart
7. front and back heart chakra
8. spleen
9. front and back spleen chakra

Energizing delicate organs with orange prana may cause serious damage such as detached retina or hemorrhage of the brain. When energizing the lungs with orange prana directly through the back of the lungs, your fingers should be pointed away from the patients' head. It is not advisable to energize the jaw minor chakras with orange prana since these chakras also energize the brain. Do not also apply orange prana on the spleen or the spleen chakra because the spleen chakra is directly connected to all the major chakras including those on the head. Orange prana should be used with caution on the solar plexus chakra and on the navel chakra since it may cause loose bowel movement. Orange prana is used for treating constipation since it stimulates bowel movement. Orange prana should not be used on patients suffering from appendicitis because it may accelerate the rupture of the inflamed appendix. Orange prana is also used to facilitate the abstraction of consciousness of a dying patient.

Light whitish orange has strong cleansing effect, etherically and physically. Etherically, it expels used up energy and diseased energy. Physically, it is essential in the elimination of waste matter. Light whitish orange and light whitish red are used for treating allergy. Other color pranas can also be used in treating allergy. But for more lasting and faster results, especially in severe allergy, light whitish orange and light whitish red have to be used.

GREEN PRANA

Properties :

1. Breaking down
2. Digestive
3. Decongesting
4. Cleansing
5. Detoxifying
6. Disinfecting
7. Dissolving
8. Loosening of diseased bioplasmic matter
9. Destruction or breaking down of dead and diseased cells

Applications :

1. Breaking down of blood clot
2. Disinfecting
3. Cold

4. Fever
5. Used in localized sweeping for decongesting and loosening stubborn diseased energy

Green or orange prana is usually used in decongesting and cleansing a diseased part by loosening the diseased bioplasmic matter. After being loosened, the diseased bioplasmic matter is removed by localized sweeping and the affected part is then energized. The loosening and expelling of the diseased bioplasmic matter with green or orange prana will enable fresh prana to enter the affected part, thereby restoring health to the treated part.

Green prana is milder and safer as compared to orange prana. When internal organs are to be energized with orange prana, it is advisable to use green prana first before projecting orange prana, as a safety precaution.

It is advisable to use light green prana first before energizing with more potent pranas like orange, red, and violet pranas as a precautionary measure to avoid possible radical reaction or harm. Energizing first with light green prana and then with light orange prana is very effective in decongesting, expelling, and cleansing physically and bioplasmically the part being treated. Please note the sequence. Light green prana is used first to break down the diseased energy, then light orange prana to expel the loosened diseased energy, and not orange prana first nor both simultaneously. When light orange-green prana (more of green prana and less of orange prana) is projected or when both orange prana and green prana are projected simultaneously, the effects of these pranas are multiplied several times; therefore, the effect is destructive to a certain degree and is used in dissolving deposits. When the darker shades of green prana and orange prana are used, the effect is quite destructive, hence they are used in treating certain types of cancers. Blue prana is used first to localize the disintegrating effect of the projected pranic energy on the affected part.

YELLOW PRANA

Properties :

1. Cohesion or cementing
2. Assimilating, multiplying, and growing

3. Stimulating effect on the nerve
4. Initiating or starting
5. Necessary for strong and healthy tissue, organs and bones

Applications :

1. Broken bones
2. Skin problems
3. Cellular repair
4. Developing strong healthy tissues, organs, and bones
5. Improving assimilation

Yellow prana alone should not be used in treating wounds, burns or broken bones because scar tissue or overgrowth will be formed. The proper treatments for these cases are given in a later chapter.

BLUE PRANA

Properties :

1. Disinfecting and disinflaming
2. Inhibiting
3. Localizing and contracting
4. Soothing and mild anesthetic
5. Cooling
6. Pliability or flexibility
7. Blood clotting

Applications :

1. Ailments due to infection
2. Removing pain
3. Reducing inflammation
4. Inhibiting chakras, organs, and motor action
5. Inducing rest and sleep
6. Stopping bleeding
7. Bringing down fever

An experiment was done by the author on a paralyzed patient. Treatment was first given on the brain, then to the right arm. Light blue prana was directed to the affected right arm for several minutes. As a result, the patient had greater dig his right arm. When light red prana was directed to the affected area, the patient was able to move his right arm with greater ease. The next day, there was an even greater improvement. This shows that blue prana has an inhibiting effect, while red prana has strengthening and stimulating effects.

VIOLET PRANA

Violet prana has the properties of all the other five pranas combined and is potent. It is used for severe types of ailments. Light violet, light bluish-violet, and light greenish-violet pranas have regenerating effects and can be used to heal damaged organs and nerves. Light bluish-violet or light greenish-violet pranas are also used for rapid healing of fresh wounds. Violet prana is used to treat severe infections like syphilis. Do not use dark violet prana on respiratory ailments, since it will have a reverse reaction and will stimulate the growth of pulmonary virus. It is much safer to use light whitish violet prana.

Violet prana has a high amplifying or multiplier effect on the properties of the other color pranas when it is projected simultaneously with another color prana. Never project violet and red pranas simultaneously since the effect is quite destructive. It will cause some of the energized cells to become very hot, to expand and burst. Do not project violet and orange pranas simultaneously since the effect is very destructive and will cause some of the energized cells to explode. Also do not project violet and yellow pranas simultaneously since it will cause rapid chaotic cell growth.

Violet prana still has an amplifying or a multiplier effect before or after another color prana has been projected. Therefore, avoid using dark color prana when violet prana has been used or will be used, since it may produce adverse effects. To strengthen a weakened part, light whitish red may be used. Or a more powerful technique is to project light whitish red then light whitish violet on an affected part in order to rapidly strengthen it. The effect is quite powerful and fast. Do not use dark red since the effect is destructive.

Both white prana and violet prana have the properties of all the color pranas. The difference is that violet prana has a greater penetrating effect and is easier to assimilate than white prana. Therefore, violet prana has a faster effect than white prana.

Through clairvoyant observation, the indigo prana is normally not seen in any of the chakras and in any part of the bioplasmic body. That is why only six types of ordinary color pranas are discussed in this chapter.

The effect of the color prana is qualified and enhanced by the intention of the healer. For instance, blue prana can be used to inhibit a chakra or an organ by forming a firm intention to inhibit when projecting it.

Some students or practitioners of color healing may find the properties or qualities of green, yellow, and orange pranas strange or doubtful. This was also the initial reaction of the author, but further study and experiments proved these are correct.

By experimenting on color pranas and studying the pranas contained in the chakras and the organs controlled and energized by the corresponding chakras, it is possible to deduce and verify the correctness of the properties or qualities of the different types of color pranas as stated in this book.

ELECTRIC VIOLET PRANIC ENERGY

There are two types of violet pranic energy: ordinary violet pranic energy and electric violet pranic energy. The former appears as luminous violet which is derived from the surrounding prana such as air, ground, and solar pranas. The latter appears as brilliant white with light violet at the periphery. This is derived from the higher self or higher soul where its entry point is the crown chakra, and hence is called divine energy or soul energy.

Electric violet pranic energy has the properties of all the other color pranas and is many times more powerful than ordinary violet pranic energy. It has a rapid regenerating effect on damaged organs and nerves, and also a very strong disinfecting effect. Electric violet pranic energy has a consciousness of its own and is very effective for rapid healing of severe ailments.

Dark electric violet pranic energy has a destructive effect on most people but it can be used in treating tumors or cancers. The part to be treated has to be energized first with dark blue pranic energy before using the dark electric violet pranic energy or any other destructive pranic energy, in order to localize the effect.

Electric violet pranic energy has a greater amplifying or multiplier effect on the properties of the other color pranas, than ordinary violet prana. Electric violet pranic energy should not be simultaneously projected with red, orange, green or yellow because the effect will be very destructive. Therefore, they are not used in healing. There is also a possibility that the destructive energy may bounce back to the healer if the patient or subject is not receptive. Please take note of these.

Also, do not use dark color prana before or after electric violet pranic energy has been projected. The effect is also quite destructive.

In certain instances, it is alright to use light whitish color prana before or after electric violet pranic energy has been projected. This technique is very potent. Improper application of the technique may result in adverse effects on the patient. Therefore, this technique should be used only by a master pranic healer or an experienced proficient advanced pranic healer.

Electric violet pranic energy is referred to in some esoteric literature as the "white light," but there is a slight difference between the two of them. Electric violet light has been programmed by the higher soul; therefore, it has a consciousness of its own and knows exactly what is to be done. The brilliant white light has the same property as electric violet light, but has not been programmed by the higher soul. Therefore, the electric violet light is more effective than just the "white light."

When projecting electric violet prana, visualize the core as brilliant white with light violet at the periphery. Ordinary violet prana is visualized as luminous white at the core with light violet at the periphery. Whether it is electric violet prana or ordinary violet prana that will be projected, it depends upon the intention or will of the healer, and the degree of development of the healer.

The effectiveness of using electric violet pranic ... depends upon the healer's ability to bring down this energy ... extent upon which a healer can bring down the electric ... prana depends on the degree of the development of his ... chakra and the size of his spiritual cord. The thickness of ... spiritual cords of ordinary people of this present civilization ... ranges from as thin as a spider web to that of a single strand ... of hair. It is hardly noticeable when clairvoyantly seen. If ... clairvoyant is not aware of its existence, he may not even notice ... it. Healers whose crown chakras are undeveloped and whose ... spiritual cords are quite thin will not be able to bring down ... sufficient divine energy or electric violet pranic energy. One type ... of meditation that will rapidly activate the crown chakra and ... increase the size of the spiritual cord is through the regular ... practice of Meditation on Twin Hearts.

The spiritual cords of some religious persons and advanced ... yogis, people who meditate or pray regularly, or who occupy ... responsible and important positions in life, are usually much ... thicker than those of ordinary people. They may have a diameter ... of one centimetre or more. There are also exceptional people ... whose spiritual cords are so big that they may be as big or even ... bigger than their heads. But this type of people are quite rare ... at the present level of man's evolution.

GOLDEN PRANIC ENERGY

When electric violet pranic energy comes in contact with ... the etheric or bioplasmic body, it gradually turns into golden ... prana. The golden prana, when absorbed by the physical body ... becomes light red. Golden prana has properties almost similar ... to those of electric violet prana. Golden prana is milder and ... less fluidic than electric violet prana. Golden prana has less ... cleansing effect than electric violet prana. In general, it is better ... to use electric violet prana for general energizing and golden ... prana for localized energizing. Electric violet also has very ... potent psychological effects and is used for treating psychological ... ailments. The guidelines for golden prana are the same as those ... for electric violet pranic energy.

Electric violet pranic energy or the golden pranic energy is felt as a cooling and pleasant sensation by healthy persons. But in persons who are depleted or are not so healthy, the feeling is warm.

Saints of different religions are sometimes depicted with brilliant electric white light descending on their heads and a golden halo surrounding it. This golden halo is produced by the activated crown chakra and the radiation of the assimilated electric violet pranic energy which has turned golden.

In Taoist Yoga, this energy is called "heaven ki" or "heaven energy." In Kabbalah, it is called "pillar of light," referring to what clairvoyants literally see as a pillar of light. The Indian yogis call this pillar of light the spiritual bridge of light or "antahkarana." Christians call this the "descent of the Holy Spirit" which is symbolized by a pillar of light with a descending dove. In Christian arts, this is shown in pictures of saints or of Jesus with a golden halo and a pillar of brilliant white light on top of their heads with a descending white dove. This is to symbolize the descent of divine energy or holy spirit.

For spiritual practitioners who have achieved a relatively high level of development, their etheric bodies are transformed into gold. They have developed, to a certain degree, the GOLDEN BODY. The gold first manifests externally, then it gradually manifests inwardly into the physical body. This is why some saints of different religions are sometimes depicted with a golden garment or golden body. If the clairvoyant is not well-trained, he or she will see the electric violet light as brilliant white light and may not notice the golden aura behind the brilliant white light.

WHAT TO DO WHEN IN DOUBT

When in doubt as to what color prana to use, just use white prana for minor ailments, and ordinary light whitish violet prana for severe ailments. In general, it is better to use white prana especially on infants, on very young children, and on old patients. In certain occasions, when white prana is not sufficiently effective, light color prana combined with white prana can be used.